[4] Website launch: A new online match-making platform for low-/zero-carbon technology projects in developing countries

Tokyo –The Global Environment Centre Foundation (GEC) launched today a new online match-making platform that will promote accelerated diffusion of advanced low-and zero-carbon technologies in the 17 Joint Crediting Mechanism (JCM) partner countries. The platform, named the JCM Global Match, is the first of its kind to automatically match all registered companies with each other according to their role and interests in their future JCM projects.
